OUTSIDE EXPERIENCE CREDITED BY BOARD

Teachers From Country Gain Revision of Salaries.

During the first three months of the year the finance committee of the Board of Education expended a total of $2,503,814. They were within their estimated expenditure by $12,702, according to the report submitted at their meeting yesterday.

A report from Business Administrator W. W. Pearce showed that the chief inspector favored the granting of 50 per cent. of the experience gained while teaching on a second-class certificate outside the city to those first-class certificate teachers who recently sent a delegation to the committee to ask for revision of their salaries.

An application was received from the public school inspectors asking that the board give them car-ticket allowance similar to that given to the supervisors and assistant supervisors. They claimed they could not carry on satisfactorily without an automobile because of the territory they had to cover. The chief inspector recommended granting it.

At the request of the Ontario Safety League, the committee decided to renew the board's membership in that body. The communication noted that last year motor traffic had been more than 33 per cent. in excess of that in 1928 and the ratio of fatalities 33 per cent. less. There were 61 fewer people drowned and 19 fewer children killed than in 1928.

Accident claims were discussed in a private session for reasons that I do not wish made public," as Trustee George Bridgen, chairman of yesterday's committee, said.

RICH AND POOR GET BEST MEDICAL HELP

Those in Between Are the Unfortunate, Says Dr.
G. G. Nasmith.

"The poor mother in Toronto gets the best possible medical service both for herself and her child. Even the rich mother does not obtain better. The unfortunate are those in between."

This statement was made yesterday by Col. G. G. Nasmith, C.M.G., before members of the Samaritan Club at the Gage Institute. Speaking on "Health Conservation," Col. Nasmith said that the average person to-day knew ten times as much about personal health conservation as he did ten years ago. "The health of the average person can be conserved and improved," he explained. "Pain limits the outlook and lessens the individual's interest in life. Only the very few who possess indomitable will and optimism can surmount the difficulties of ill health. It follows then that health is the most valuable thing in the world."

There were three great forces at work in health conservation, he pointed out. These were the federal, provincial and local official bodies; the great voluntary organizations; and the practice of good health habits.

Of the great voluntary organizations, Col. Nasmith made special reference to the Canadian Medical Association, the Dental Hygiene Council and the Red Cross. Last year, he said, the Canadian Red Cross and its Dominion, provincial and local groups spent $750,000 in Red Cross work. Thirty-five thousand immigrants were looked after at the port nurseries. Two hundred thousand Canadian children were registered in the Junior Red Cross.

"The Junior Red Cross is the most promising thing in the world to-day," he said. "It's the greatest force that has come into education, and in the Canadian West it has been spoken of as the greatest Canadianizing force."

In summing up the work of the various health conservation organizations, Col. Nasmith said: "You can't compel people to do what you want them to. You can't make them take baths or drink milk. You can't force them to observe health rules. In the last analysis health depends on ourselves. It is difficult to teach adults so we expend all our fundamental health efforts on the children. The observance of wrong health habits causes more ill-health and lack of vigor than all the infection in the world put together."

Food was important in health conservation, he continued. People used to think of food in connection with carbohydrates, proteins and fats. Food to-day was thought of in different forms. If the individuals lived on a concentrated diet of these things they would die, for bulk is needed in the food. The five vitamins in the diet were necessary for health. One of these vitamins was "D" which was obtained from sunshine. In the winter months it could be derived from cod liver oil.

Miss Roy of the visiting committee of the club, spoke of the importance of personal service, which was more vital than actual relief work. During the past month 110 families had been helped. Unemployment figured prominently in the worst problems, she said.

Mrs. A. W. Schell gave vocal selections. Mrs. H. C. Garner presided.

CLUB ELECTIONS HELD.

Presentations were made to the retiring captain, Mrs. H. B. W. Smith and the vice-captain, Mrs. Harold Wilson, by the ladies of the Parkdale Canoe Club badminton section as an appreciation of their work during the past season, at the annual meeting on Saturday. The election of officers for 1930-31 resulted as follows: Chairman, Miss Dora Hudson; sec.-treas., Mrs. Gordon Cumming; representatives from "A" team, Mrs. Knowles, Miss A. Baker, Miss Eva Sedgewick; representatives from "B" team, Miss Winnie Brown, Mrs. Harold Wilson, Miss Dow; social conveners, Mrs. Musson and Mrs. E. P. Cronk. ...of the Junior League was reported at the annual meeting of that organization held yesterday afternoon at Hunter Lodge, the home of Mrs. J. J. Palmer, 8 Oriole Gardens.

Personal service was the keynote of the many departments whose work was reviewed at the meeting. Twenty-two well-baby clinics in the city are staffed with an average of 41 volunteer assistants from the ranks of the Junior League, according to the Chairman, Miss Marjorie Meerns. Miss Marjorie Lamb reported that the social service desk in the Hospital for Sick Children is staffed by members 25 per cent. of the supply-room work carried on by them and assistance given the occupational therapists.

One worker with a car was on duty each day of the year, including holidays, to deliver milk in connection with the "Save-the-Baby" Department, of which Mrs. John McKee was Chairman. Miss Isabel Roper's report of the Motor Department showed that patients had been taken to and from hospitals and clinics, and two girls from the Hospital for Incurables had been taken regularly to the Ontario College of Art. Layettes Are Made.

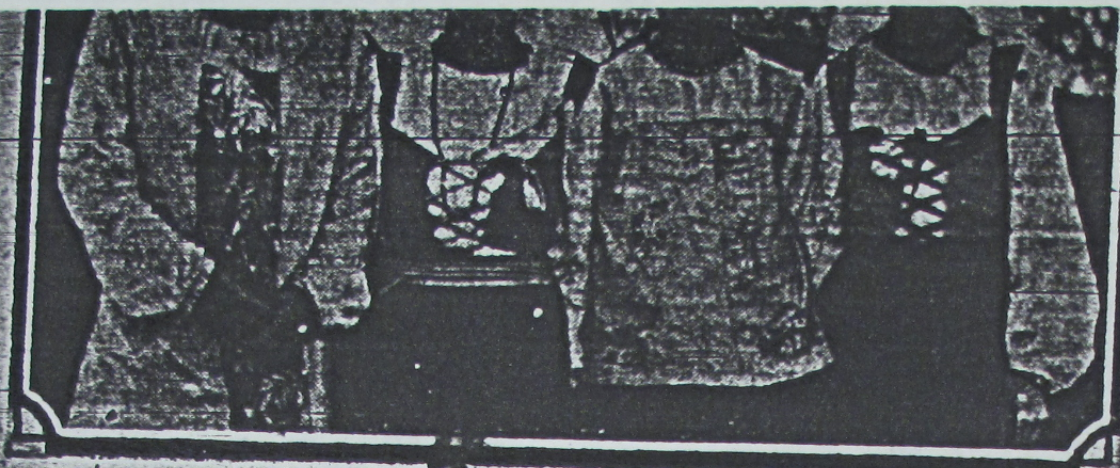

The Victorian Order of Nurses and the Infants' Home were assisted by the Sewing Department, 21 complete layettes having been made, as well as other garments. Mrs. Andrew McLean gave the report. Profits of $2,886 from the Junior League Opportunity Shop were reported by Mrs. Kenneth Love. Mrs. J. A. Grant reported for "Arts and Interests," and Mrs. T. W. Watson for Macdonalds. The latter committee are giving the first performance later in the month.

Mrs. Charlotte Towse, the Treasurer, showed that receipts for the year had been $14,943.86, with a balance at present of $1,812. There is now $34,282 in the charity account. The new clubhouse in the same building as the Opportunity Shop was described by the secretary. The room is being furnished by the T. Eaton Company. Mrs. A. G. Findley gave the News Sheet editor's report, and Miss Macdonald gave the report of the national convention which she attended in New York.

The reports were seconded by Lady Balfour, Honorary President. Croche Abandoned.

The committee which had been working during the year on the project of a Junior League Croche brought in a report that the croche-museum school, as suggested, would considerably exceed in budget the funds available. It was decided to abandon the plan, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Grenville Rolph, the retiring President; Mrs. Clifford Beattie, Miss Madeline Mara, Mrs. W. K. Mackenzie and Mrs. A. M. Cox was appointed to consider some other project that would be of benefit to the community.

Miss Elizabeth Laidlaw was elected President, succeeding Mrs. Rolph, and the other officers are: Vice-Presidents, Miss Madeline Mara and Mrs. John McKee; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Evelyn Foster; Recording Secretary,

"Oh, to Be a Shriner!"

Can you visualize Toronto during the week of June 10 to 15, 1930, when it will be virtually doubled in population, and become the City of the Far East with an Oriental glamour, a Far Eastern atmosphere?" asks the Koran, published by Al Asher Temple, Calgary, Alta.

"Truly an inspiring sight, only to be witnessed once in a lifetime within our borders, when upward of 800,000 people, consisting of Shriners, their wives, and in some cases the entire families, will join the caravans crossing this entire continent to meet up at the Oasis of Ramsgate Temple in that beautiful city of the East.

"Can you anticipate the realization of taking part in the frolics, the gambols, the tricks of the merriest merry-makers of all organizations?

"Can you picture the spectacle of such an august assembly of dignitaries, including the Premier of the Dominion, Premiers of the Provinces, the President, or his representative, of the United States, and Governors of the States of the Union, together with our Imperial Potentate, the Potentates of the Shrines of this continent, the Grand Masters of Mischief grand parades of this continent, and other high officials of state, with the hundreds of thousands of the Nobility of the Mystic Shrine, taking part in the unveiling of a peace monument, gift of Shrinedom to the City of Toronto, commemorating the peace that has existed between the two nations of North America, and expressing the sentiment of these nations toward world peace?

"Can you visualize the uniformed bodies, in their gay and attractive dress, in that stupendous parade executing the evolutions of their drills, as they march past the coliseum; and can you hear the music as it peals forth from thousands of instruments, carry its rhythm into the steps, and movements of the men on parade; the chanters, with soft, weird strains, and the voices of the choristers?

"Little wonder that Calgary's Temple will run a special train to Toronto to take part in this Imperial gathering, and that their patrol and band will take part in mammoth parades, giving Calgary and Alberta a publicity, in this the greatest of all opportunities, wider than the continent itself."

THOUSANDS APPLAUD DANCES AND DRILLS

Physical Demonstration Is Given by Eaton School
Students

"Play Day in Arcady," exemplified in a dance of surpassing grace, made more effective with scarlet in springtime colors, wreaths of flowers and huge golden balls, was a lovely conclusion to the annual physical demonstration presented by the students of Margaret Eaton School at the Varsity Arena last evening.

Several thousand spectators applauded impartially the scenic effects of the dances and the perfection of technique displayed in the gymnastics. The fifty students all took part in the Swedish gymnastics, the senior students gave a display of fundamental gymnastics, while others took part in a demonstration of wand and club drills. Pyramids and tumbling were an innovation in this year's program.

Old dances in many forms were amusing. A novelty was the interpretation of children's games, such as "London Bridge," as also, The European countries were the sources for the charming folk dances.

Miss Mary Hamilton is the director of the school, and the staff include Miss Charlotte Kinkadee, Mrs. Homer Geddes, Miss Lilabel Short, Miss Floss Murgrove and Miss Nora McLenahan.

LAUNDRY VAN DRIVER HAS SKULL FRACTURED

Arthur Saunders Struck by Doctor's Automobile on Oakwood Avenue

Yesterday afternoon Arthur Saunders of 2 Ellsworth Avenue, a driver for the St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull, after he had been struck by a car driven by Dr. D. P. Philip of 67 Rogers Road.

At the time of the accident Saunders had stopped his delivery van on Oakwood Avenue between Barncliffe Road and Oakway Avenue, and, getting out, walked in front of his van to cross the road, when he stepped in the path of the doctor's car, which was proceeding north.

At the hospital he was reported to be in a serious condition, and up to a late hour last night had not recovered consciousness. Inspector Dickson of York

I imagine people must be allowed to go in and out very quietly. An acquaintance of mine who is to see the play in June is going to report her impressions before we go. I spoke to Dr. Cody about the advisability of taking the young people, and he said: "Yes, take them." My eleven-and-a-half-year-old is not of a nervous temperament, exactly, but if the adults in the audience are weeping I doubt if it would be really be good for a child from any standpoint. However, we shall see how things happen between now and then.

It is fun to be planning a trip for the whole family, and my sister sends me little clippings sometimes with travel hints: "Take an extra set of false teeth if you are in the habit of dropping them." Unkind threat!

We bought two most efficient-looking pieces of luggage the other day, so that the hour of departure is drawing nearer.

Talking of travelling, Jules wanted to know about some travel books to read. Has she come across "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," by Harry A. Frank? It is most entertaining and purports to be the true story of a university graduate who starts from Detroit to encircle the globe with exactly $100 in funds, and that is to pay the expenses of a budget. He comes through all sorts of hardships and perils, and must have the constitution of a Trojan to keep his health.

Well, I must tell the pagettes that after a little rest of a month, my good friend and partner in the two-piano enterprise and I have re-established our system of meeting twice a week for a practice. We are now doing an arrangement of Weber's Invitation to the Dance by Godowsky, and it's great fun. As our "partnership" will be temporarily dissolved in the summer, we shall have only a few more plays together.
